

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

DATA MANAGEMENT APPLIANCE

The present invention is directed toward a data management appliance and ancillary technologies for replicating data written to a primary storage system. The data management appliance is a random-access storage system that at the logical block level replicates the contents of a primary storage system over time.

[illegible]